Denali Healthcare Specialists is required by law to protect the privacy and confidentiality of your health-related information. We are also required to provide you with this Notice about our privacy practices, our legal duties, and your rights concerning your health-related information. We are obligated to abide by the terms of this Notice. Our Notice of Privacy Practices became effective on April 14, 2003 and remains in effect until replaced.

USES AND DISCLOSURES OF PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION

There are several ways in which your physician, our office staff and others outside of our office involved in your care are permitted to use and disclose your protected health information without your written authorization. Protected health information ("medical information") is any individually identifiable health-related information that may identify you and that relates to your past, present or future physical or mental health or condition, health care services provided to you, or payment for health care services rendered. The following list describes different ways that we are permitted to use and disclose your protected health information without your authorization; however, this list is not meant to be exhaustive.

TREATMENT. We may use and disclose your medical information to provide, coordinate, or manage your health care. For example, we may request that your primary care physician share information with us and we may provide information about your condition to your primary care physician.

PAYMENT. We are permitted to use and disclose your medical information to obtain payment from your health insurer for services rendered. For example, we may be required to disclose information about you to your health plan to obtain prior approval to perform certain procedures and to seek payment for services rendered.

HEALTH CARE OPERATIONS. We may use and disclose your medical information for health care operations. Health care operations include: healthcare quality assessment and improvement activities; reviewing and evaluating the competence, qualifications and performance of our health care professionals; training programs for our health care professionals; accreditation, certification, licensing and credentialing activities; medical records review, audits, and legal services; business planning, development, management and administrative activities.

We are also permitted to use and disclose your medical information without your prior approval when authorized and required for the following public health and benefit activities: 1) for public health, including to report disease and vital statistics, child and adult abuse and neglect, and domestic violence; 2) to avert a serious and imminent threat to public health or safety; 3) for health care oversight, for example relating to investigations, inspections, audits and surveys by state insurance commissioners, licensing and peer review authorities, and fraud and abuse agencies; 4) for research; 5) to comply with FDA regulations regarding FDA-regulated products or activities; 6) to comply with OSHA or similar state laws regarding work-related illnesses or injuries; 7) to comply with workers' compensation laws and similar programs; 8) in response to court and administrative orders, subpoenas, warrants, summons and other lawful processes; 9) to report criminal activities to law enforcement officials; 10) in response to requests by military command authorities; 11) for lawful intelligence, counterintelligence, and national security activities; 12) in response to correctional institutions and law enforcement officials regarding persons in lawful custody; 13) in response to coroners, medical examiners, funeral directors, and organ procurement organizations; and 14) disclosures otherwise specifically required by law.

We may disclose your medical information to a family member, friend or any other person involved in your care or responsible for payment of your care but will disclose only the information that is relevant to their involvement. We will provide you with an opportunity to object to these disclosures, unless you are not present or incapacitated or it is an emergency or disaster relief situation. In those situations, we will use our professional judgment to determine whether disclosing your medical information is in your best interests under the circumstances.

We may also use and disclose your medical information to contact you to remind you of scheduled appointments and to inform you of treatment alternatives or health-related products or services that may be of interest to you.

In any other situation not described above, we will not use and disclose your medical information without your express written authorization. Uses and disclosures of your medical information for marketing and fundraising purposes and uses and disclosures that constitute sales of medical information about you will only be made with your signed permission. You have the right to opt out of receiving fundraising communications.

If you sign an authorization to disclose your protected health information, you can later revoke that authorization, in writing, to stop future uses and disclosures. However, any revocation will not apply to disclosures or uses already made or taken in reliance on that authorization.

- You have the right to request that we not use or share your protected health information with any party, including family or friends, regarding your treatment, payment of services, or our healthcare operations. If you pay in full for an item or service, you have the right to request that we not share your medical information with your insurer. Your request must state the specific restriction and to whom the restriction applies. Except in limited circumstances, we are not required to agree to the request if the request is not in your best interests.
